2. How super works

Superannuation is money saved for your retirement which is, in part, compulsory. This means that, on top of the current legal obligations that require your employer to pay 12% of your Ordinary Time Earnings (OTE) into a super account, you may also make additional voluntary super contributions.

Your choice

Most people may choose which super fund their employer pays their Superannuation Guarantee (SG) contributions to. If you do not make a choice and you do not have an existing 'stapled' super fund, your SG contributions will be paid into the MySuper product of your employer's default fund.

Types of contributions

There are different types of contributions available to a person (for example, employer contributions, before and after tax voluntary contributions, spouse contributions and government co-contributions).

There are tax concessions provided by the Government on super. However, there are various limits (or caps) and age constraints that apply to contributions to (and withdrawals from) super and the applicable tax concessions.

If your contributions are above the allowable applicable limit you may have to pay extra tax.

How your legalsuper account works legalsuper is an accumulation fund. This means that super contributions from your employer, and from you if you choose, are deposited into your account, together with money that you transfer (rollover) from other funds. These monies are then invested in one or more legalsuper investment option(s).

Fees including insurance fees, the direct fee portion of administration fees and Government taxes are deducted directly from your account balance. The value of your investment option(s), after fees and taxes, rises or falls depending on the change in value of the underlying investments in that option(s).

2. How super works (cont)

Consolidating your super

If you have multiple super accounts you could consider consolidating your super. Limiting the number of accounts you have may reduce the total amount of fees you pay. Before consolidating, check the impact (if any) consolidating your accounts has on any benefits that your other super fund has, such as insurance cover, any fees and taxes that may apply if you leave your other fund, that your details match and your tax obligations that must be met if you are self-employed.

legalsuper has an online consolidation tool to assist you with this process in MemberAccess at legalsuper.com.au

Alternatively, you can call legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST/AEDT] Monday to Friday) to consolidate other super accounts into your legalsuper account over the telephone.

Accessing your super.

You can generally access your super when you:

- turn 65 (even if you're still working)
- are between 60 and 65 and are permanently retired
- are between 60 and 65 and start a transition to retirement strategy while still working.

These are called 'conditions of release.'

You may be able to access your super early if you meet specific requirements. For more information, please read the 'Accessing your super' section of the legalsuper Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide which forms part of the PDS.

3. Benefits of investing with legalsuper

4. Risks of super

All investment strategies carry risk. Different investment strategies may carry different levels of risk, depending on the assets that make up that strategy. Assets with the highest long-term returns may also carry the highest level of short-term risk.

The value of investments will vary. The level of risk appropriate for each person will also vary depending on a range of factors, including your age, your investment time frames, where other parts of your assets are invested, and your personal risk tolerance.

Future returns may differ from past returns, and returns are not guaranteed. Members may lose some of their money.

It is worth understanding that the amount of your future super savings (including contributions and returns) may not be enough to provide adequately for your retirement.

Some risks of investing in legalsuper

You should take the following investment risks into account when choosing your investment option(s).

Inflation risk: Inflation is measured by the Consumer Price Index (CPI). When the CPI increases, a nominal dollar amount has less purchasing power. When an investment provides a lower return than the increase in inflation, it loses value in terms of purchasing power. Therefore, if your super's after-tax return is less than the rate of inflation, the real value of your savings declines.

Market risk: Economic, technological, political and legal conditions, and even market sentiment change. This can mean that changes in the value of investment markets may affect the value of investments that legalsuper makes.

Interest rate risk: Changes in interest rates can have a positive or negative effect, directly or indirectly, on investment values and returns.

Credit risk: Defaults or changes in the price of credit will affect returns.

Investment styles: When legalsuper chooses individual investment managers, their varying investment styles will perform differently depending on their investment strategy as well as market conditions and other factors.

Legislation and taxation risk:

The Government may make changes to superannuation law in the future. Such changes may affect some, or all, aspects of your super savings – for example, the insurance cover you may receive, when you can access your super, or how your benefit is taxed.

This is not a complete list and there are other significant risks which could affect your investment such as operational and cyber related risks.

Standard Risk Measure

The Standard Risk Measure is based on industry guidance to allow members to compare investment options that are expected to deliver a similar number of negative annual returns over any 20 year period.

The Standard Risk Measure is not a complete assessment of all forms of investment risk, for instance it does not detail what the size of a negative return could be or the potential for a positive return to be less than you may require to meet your objectives. Further, it does not take into account the impact of administration fees and tax on the likelihood of a negative return.

You should still ensure you are comfortable with the risks and potential losses associated with your chosen investment option(s).

Important Information

You should read the important information about benefits of investing with legalsuper before making a decision. Go to the legalsuper Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide at legalsuper.com.au/pds

The material relating to the risks of super may change between the time when you read this statement and the day when you acquire the product.

5. How we invest your money

WARNING: You should consider the likely investment return, the level of risk and your investment time frame when choosing to invest in the MySuper Balanced option or another investment option(s).

When you join legalsuper as an Employer-sponsored member, your initial contributions are automatically invested in the MySuper Balanced option, the default investment option for Employer-sponsored members. Alternatively, you can create your own investment strategy by selecting a combination of investment options. Each option has a varying degree of risk and expected return. If you do not make a selection, your money will remain in the MySuper Balanced option. Personal and Spouse members must make an investment choice from the list below.

You can choose from the following investment options:

- ✔ MySuper Balanced*
- ✔ Cash
- ✔ Conservative
- ✔ Conservative Balanced
- ✔ Balanced
- ✔ Growth
- ✔ High Growth
- ✔ Australian Shares
- ✔ Overseas Shares
- ✔ Balanced Index
- ✔ Balanced Socially Responsible
- ✔ Direct Investment Option

* MySuper Balanced option is not available to Personal and Spouse members.

Socially responsible investments

Socially responsible investments are investments that take into account labour standards and environmental, social and ethical considerations.

The Balanced Socially Responsible option has a detailed plan to account for environmental, social and corporate governance (ESG) matters within its investment strategy.

For other legalsuper options, legalsuper's policy is to screen to exclude companies involved in the production of tobacco products, controversial weapons and thermal coal products where any one of these items accounts for more than 10% of total revenue of the company in question. Exclusions apply only to directly held share portfolios where the Trustee has the ability to set specific exclusions within investment manager mandates. ESG factors are taken into account in the selection, retention, or realisation of the other investments managed by legalsuper.

Investment choice

You can split your existing superannuation account balance between any of the available investment options to best suit your individual needs. You can also choose to have future contributions and rollovers paid into investment options that are different from your existing account balance.

To change your existing investment option(s) you must submit an investment change instruction.

You can submit an investment change instruction using MemberAccess or you may submit a written request. Requests to switch investment option(s) received before 4pm (AEST/AEDT)* on a National Business Day (i.e. a weekday that is not a national public holiday or the NSW King's Birthday weekend or another day at the Trustee's discretion) will receive the unit price of that day. Your account records will generally be updated two National Business Days after the request.

* The 4pm (AEST/AEDT) cut-off applies to requests received via all channels (e.g. online, forms).

Before you make your choice you should also think about:

- ✔ how long you have before you retire
- ✔ how comfortable you are with investment volatility
- ✔ the investment return you need or want
- ✔ how much super you will need in retirement
- ✔ other investments and savings you may have
- ✔ fees and costs

Investment advice

You should consult a licensed financial adviser if you are unsure of which investment option or combination to choose.

6. Fees and other costs

This section shows fees and other costs that you may be charged by legalsuper for the MySuper Balanced option. These fees and other costs may be deducted from your money, from the returns on your investment or from the assets of the superannuation entity as a whole. Other fees, such as activity fees, advice fees for personal advice and insurance fees, may also be charged, but these will depend on the nature of the activity, advice or insurance you hold. Entry fees and exit fees cannot be charged.

Taxes, insurance fees and other costs relating to insurance are set out in another part of this document.

You should read all the information about fees and other costs because it is important to understand their impact on your investment.

The fees and costs for other investment options are different to those charged for the MySuper Balanced option. For details of fees and costs applicable to these other investment options and for all definitions please read the legalsuper Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide (page 73) available at legalsuper.com.au

Consumer advisory warning

Did you know?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long-term returns. For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30-year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000). You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs. You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees*. Ask the fund or your financial adviser.

To find out more

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) Moneysmart website (www.moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation fee calculator to help you check out different fee options.

* The above wording is required by legislation. legalsuper's fees and costs are not negotiable.

6. Fees and other costs (cont)

Fees and costs summary

legalsuper MySuper Balanced option ¹
Type of fee or cost	Amount	How and when paid
Ongoing annual fees and costs ²
Administration fees and costs ⁷	$51.48 pa ($0.99 per week)	The Administration fees and costs of $0.99 per week are deducted from your account on a monthly basis through the sale of units.
	PLUS 0.29% pa of your account balance	The 0.29% pa. is not deducted directly or separately from your account. It is proportionately from the assets of the investment option and is reflected in the calculations of the daily unit prices for the investment option. The fee is based on your average account balance during the year. The Trustee may expense a reserving margin over member accounts for purposes of funding capital requirements relating to the administration or operation of the Fund. The reserving margin (if any) will be deducted from the underlying asset value of your account and will be reflected in the daily unit pricing for the applicable investment option.
	PLUS 0.00% pa of your account balance paid from Fund reserves	The 0.00% pa is not deducted from your account; it is paid from fund reserves and these costs do not impact performance. This is an estimated amount based on the year ending 30 June 2025. The actual amount you will be charged for this financial year will depend on the actual fees and costs incurred.
Investment fees and costs ⁵	0.50% pa of the option's assets (estimated)	These amounts are not deducted directly or separately from your account. They are deducted proportionately from the assets of each investment option and are reflected in the calculations of the daily unit prices of each option. These fees are an estimate as they have been calculated using fees of current underlying investment managers and include an estimated level of variable expenses.
Transaction costs ³	0.13% pa of the option's assets (estimated)	This is not deducted directly or separately from your account, rather it is deducted from the underlying asset value of the member's account via the unit pricing process.
Member activity related fees and costs
Buy-sell spread	0.14%	This fee will apply when you contribute to the fund (buy units), withdraw from the fund (sell units), or change your investment options (sell and buy units) and is reflected in the unit price when units are bought and sold in the relevant options. Therefore, it is not deducted directly from your account or from your investment returns. Buy-sell spreads reflect the cost of buying or selling assets and these vary from time to time. Current buy-sell spreads are available at legalsuper.com.au
Switching fee	Nil	Not Applicable
Other fees and costs ⁴	Various, depending on insurance cover you have or personal advice you obtain.	Insurance fees are deducted from insured members' accounts each month and paid to the Insurer quarterly. General advice fees are collected as part of the Administration fees and costs item set out above. Personal advice is charged as an Activity fee. ⁶ An investment option that invests in property may incur associated property operating costs and borrowing costs, which are an additional cost but are not an additional charge as they are reflected in the unit price for the relevant investment option.

6. Fees and other costs (cont)

- ¹. For members investing in options other than the legalsuper MySuper Balanced option (including the Direct Investment option, or DIO), please refer to the legalsuper Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide available at legalsuper.com.au

Any amount charged in excess of that cap must be refunded to you. This is known as the "Administration fees and costs refund".
- ³. Transaction costs are an estimate of the operating and transaction costs associated with maintaining an investment portfolio. It is calculated based on available information from underlying managers, taking into account the Fund's experience for the year ending 30 June 2025. This is legalsuper's best estimate of future transaction and operating costs, but is subject to change from time to time.
- ⁴. Refer to Table 1 on pages 75 – 76 for details of other fees and costs and section titled "Insurance costs" of the Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide for more information on insurance fees.

The calculation basis for this amount is set out under "Performance fees" on page 77).
- ⁶. Please refer to "Advice fees" in the Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide section 'Additional explanation of fees and costs' on page 75.
- ⁷. Part of Administration fees and costs may be applied to the Trustee Resilience Reserve (TRR) and is for use in the event that the Trustee or its Directors incur penalties for breaches or similar events and is not charged as a separate fee to members but is funded by a trustee fee transferred from the general Reserve. Refer to the Example of annual fees and costs following.

WARNING: If you consult a financial adviser, additional Advice Fees may be payable by you directly to the adviser. You should refer to the adviser's Statement of Advice for details.

The wording in the table and the section above is required by legislation.

* Additional fees may apply. For example, if you leave the Fund you may also be charged a buy-sell spread which applies whenever you make a contribution, exit, rollover or switch investment options.

¹ Administration fees and costs are comprised of:

- A flat fee of $51.48 (regardless of your account balance);

A portion of the administration fees and costs may be paid from the general Reserve, and are not directly deducted from your account including 0.02% to the Trustee Resilience Reserve, which for a $50,000 balance is $10. The Trustee Resilience Reserve is for use in the event that the Trustee or its Directors incur penalties for breaches or similar events, and is not charged as a separate fee to members but is funded by a trustee fee transferred from the general Reserve.

² For every $50,000 you have in the superannuation product, Investment fees and costs and Transaction costs will apply.

³ Where costs have been expressed as a percentage of your account balance, the costs have been rounded down to two decimal places. 7. How super is taxed

Tax treatment of contributions

Concessional contributions

Taxation is payable on concessional contributions including:

- Employer contributions
- Contributions made on any pre-tax income e.g. salary sacrifice contributions
- Contributions for which you obtain a tax deduction.

The tax (generally 15%) is deducted from your account.

Non-concessional contributions

Taxation is not payable on non-concessional contributions including:

- Contributions you or your employer make from your after-tax income
- Contributions your spouse makes to your super fund
- Personal contributions that are not claimed as an income tax deduction.

Important: Please note that the above tax treatment is subject to you not exceeding the contributions caps (explained below).

Additional taxation may apply if you are a high income earner.

Contribution caps

The amount of the contribution caps and how much additional tax you pay once you exceed them may depend on whether your contributions are classified as concessional or non-concessional.

WARNING: There may be significant tax consequences if your contributions exceed the contribution caps.

For more information on contributions and their classification, visit the ATO website at ato.gov.au

Tax on investment earnings

Investment earnings of the Fund are taxed at a maximum rate of 15%.

Your Tax File Number (TFN)

Under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, legalsuper is authorised to collect, use and disclose your TFN.

legalsuper may disclose your TFN to another superannuation provider, when your benefits are being transferred, unless you request legalsuper, in writing, not to disclose your TFN to any other superannuation provider.

You should provide your Tax File Number (TFN)

Declining to quote your TFN is not an offence but if we don't have your TFN, it will be harder to find other superannuation accounts in your name, your before-tax contributions and withdrawals are taxed at a higher rate and we can't accept after-tax contributions from you. You will also be ineligible for the government co-contribution incentive.

Tax on benefit payments

Generally, if you receive a lump sum benefit payment (e.g. a retirement benefit) from your account on or after age 60, the payment will be tax-free.

However, the tax treatment of benefit payments received in other circumstances (e.g. if you are under age 60, if you die, if you become disabled) will be different.

Among other things, the tax treatment will depend on your age, whether the benefit consists of a tax-free component and whether the benefit, in the case of your death, is paid to a death benefit 'tax dependant'.

Important Information

You should read the important information about how super is taxed before making a decision. Go to the legalsuper Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide at legalsuper.com.au/pds

The material relating to how super is taxed may change between the time when you read this statement and the day when you acquire the product.

8. Insurance in your super

You should read this document to understand the level and scope of this insurance cover before deciding whether it is appropriate for you.

Important Information

An employer may have entered into a separate Death, Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) and/or Salary Continuance insurance arrangement for its employees with the Trustee. We will let you know if this applies to you and provide you with a copy of your employer's Insurance booklet.

You should read this Insurance booklet, together with the insurance information in the Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide at legalsuper.com.au/pds.

What default cover is available?

Default cover is cover which we issue to you automatically without an application from you.

- Employer-sponsored members may automatically receive up to four units of Death (including Terminal Illness) and TPD cover provided an SG contribution has been received. The cover will either be Limited Cover or Standard Cover depending on how you meet the eligibility criteria. Please refer to the Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide to determine whether Limited Cover or Standard Cover will apply for you, and details of when default cover starts.
- Personal members (other than Spouse members) may automatically receive $250,000 of fixed-sum Death (including Terminal Illness) and TPD insurance cover, without having to provide evidence of health. This cover excludes any Pre-Existing Condition(s).

Members who don't meet the PMIF requirements upon joining, can make an election, including answering a series of questions to the satisfaction of the Insurer, within 60 days of the issue date of their Welcome Letter to have default cover commence from the date we receive your election. This cover will only commence if your account balance is sufficient to pay the first month of insurance fees.

Limited Cover may apply if you are an Employer-sponsored member. If you are a Personal member, the automatic insurance cover excludes any Pre-Existing Condition(s).

Spouse members do not receive any default insurance cover upon joining legalsuper but are able to apply to the Insurer for cover.

WARNING: You can request to cancel your default cover at any time. If you do not tell us you wish to cancel your cover, the insurance fees for your default cover will be deducted from your account on a monthly basis.

Our Insurer

Zurich Australia Limited ABN 92 000 010 195 AFSL 232510 (the Insurer). Death, TPD, and Salary Continuance insurance cover is issued based on the terms and conditions contained in the Insurer's policy documents. In this section capitalised terms are as defined in the policy documents. The terms of the policy documents prevail in the event of any inconsistency with this PDS.

8. Insurance in your super (cont)

If your account balance:

- is becoming insufficient to pay the insurance fees, we will contact you to provide you with an opportunity to make contributions to continue your cover before your cover lapses in accordance with the policy terms;
- is insufficient to pay insurance fees, your cover will lapse; or
- has been inactive for 16 months legalsuper will not be permitted by law to continue to provide you with insurance unless directed by you.

It is important that you keep your contact details up to date as we will use your contact details that we hold on record.

Transferring your cover from other providers

You may be able to transfer cover from another insurance provider. This process depends on your ability to answer a set of Screening Questions to the satisfaction of the Insurer.

Salary Continuance cover

Salary Continuance cover is generally available on a voluntary rather than default basis (meaning you will need to apply for this cover) to eligible members who work at least 15 hours per week on a regular basis. Spouse members or members employed or engaged on a Casual basis are not eligible to apply for this cover.

Can I change my cover later?

Yes, you can apply to increase, reduce or cancel the amount of cover you have at any time. You may cancel your insurance cover in writing, online via MemberAccess, via email or over the phone. Your cover will be cancelled from the date we receive your request or a later date as specified by you. Go to the Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide to determine how to restart lapsed or cancelled cover.

To make any of these changes you must complete and provide to us the appropriate form described in the Employer Sponsored Super & Personal Super Additional Information Guide. You may wish to apply for increased cover (with reduced underwriting) under Life Events Cover, Work Events Cover or Special Offer (only for Employer-sponsored members). Conditions and Screening Questions apply.

9. How to open an account

There are different ways to join legalsuper

1. Your employer can sign you up as an Employer-sponsored member automatically by joining you through EmployerAccess at legalsuper.com.au
2. You can join legalsuper in one of two ways:
 - ✓ Join online at legalsuper.com.au
 - ✓ In writing by completing a Member Application form available at legalsuper.com.au

Cooling-off period

Members other than Employer-sponsored members and new employers, may cancel their legalsuper membership and have their initial investment repaid during a 14-day cooling-off period. If you wish to exercise this right, you must advise the Trustee in writing (including email) during the cooling-off period.

The 14-day cooling-off period starts from the earlier of:

- The date that you receive confirmation of commencement of your legalsuper account, or
- Five calendar days after your legalsuper account commences.

You cannot exercise your cooling-off period entitlement after you have exercised any of the other rights of your legalsuper membership, such as receiving a contribution or benefit payment or making an investment switch.

Before exercising your cooling-off period rights, you may wish to obtain financial advice on any implications of cancelling your legalsuper account.

Most refunds, based on the cooling-off approval, are required to be paid into another complying superannuation fund or approved deposit fund, and would not be able to be paid directly to you.

Complaints

If you have an enquiry or complaint, call or email us at the details on this page, or go online to legalsuper.com.au/contactus. legalsuper will respond to your enquiry promptly.

Complaints Officer, legalsuper
Locked Bag 5081, Parramatta NSW 2124.

If you do not receive a response from the Trustee within 45 days (except for death benefit distribution complaints where the Trustee can respond within 90 days after the objection period), or you are not satisfied with the Trustee's decision, you can contact the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (AFCA). AFCA is an external dispute resolution (EDR) scheme established to deal with complaints from consumers in the financial system. Please note, there are time limits that apply to go to AFCA. You can find further details about the process and applicable times on our website or through AFCA. You can contact AFCA on 1800 931 678, visit afca.org.au or email info@afca.org.au
